1.0 Multi-Year Accessibility Plan Requirement

Regulation 191/11: Integrated Accessibility Standards under the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act, 2005 requires organizations to create multi-year accessibility plans, update them at least once every five years and post them on their websites. An accessibility plan outlines what steps an organization will take to prevent and remove barriers to accessibility and when it will do so.

2.0 Message from Jempak’s Executive Leadership Team – AODA Statement of Commitment to Accessibility

In fulfilling the mission and purpose of the AODA, Jempak Corporation, A Henkel Company (known as Jempak throughout this document) is committed to providing an environment that respects the dignity and independence of all individuals regardless of abilities. ## 4.0 Section 1. Past Achievements to Remove and Prevent Barriers

- 4.1 This section highlights specific projects and programs the organization has implemented to improve accessibility for people with disabilities and to meet requirements of the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act.
- 4.2 Customer Service: Jempak has remained in compliance with this standard, and in how customer feedback is submitted. For example, Jempak took actions to address the feedback received and to identify/address potential barriers that may prevent people from giving feedback.
- 4.3 Information and Communications: Jempak has remained in compliance with this standard, for example, we communicate in a means that enables persons with disabilities to communicate effectively for purposes of using, receiving, and requesting goods and services.
- 4.4 Employment: Jempak has remained in compliance with this standard, for example, we are committed to supporting employees who have been absent from work due to a disability and who require accommodation in order to return to work in a safe and timely return to work. Example:
- When an employee had issues with their shoulder their task was modified to ensure they did not have to conduct tasks that would agitate their shoulder.
  - When an employee sprained their ankle, they were assigned a task that did not require them to walk throughout the plant and were provided with a chair to sit on to aid in the healing of their ankle.
  - When an employee had personal surgery, they were provided with administrative tasks until their primary medical practitioner cleared them to return to full duties
  - When an employee had surgery on their arm they were provided with modified work as specified by their medical practitioner, until such time they were cleared to return to full duties.
  - We have a wheelchair available if it is ever required.
- 4.5 Procurement: For example, accessibility features include technical features (e.g., software), and structural features (e.g., physical design, including hardware or product specifications). Jempak has remained in compliance with this standard as we have not had to accommodate this up to now.
- 4.6 Training: Jempak has remained in compliance with this standard, and has provided training, for example, we provided annual training to all employees. New hired employees and Agency "employees" go through AODA training. Employees are specifically trained in how to approach individuals that are not wearing the appropriate company provided identification.
